Five quick stepsto exam success!

1. PAF
2. Five points
3. Order
4. A FOREST
5. Proofread

PAF = Purpose...audience...form Underline or highlight these.
How will they affect what you write? - contents, layout, language, sentences, vocabulary, tone?

Find five points for your argument or persuasion
As messy a s you like: no-one's going to see them!
List or spider - it's up to you.
Be quick - it'sonly a list: you can expand on them a bit later.

Order?
Find the best order for these points.
Remember - you want a Big Opening to catch attention and an Ending with Impact!

Go through A FOREST:

| $\mathbf{A}$ | ANEC DOTES | A personal experience \& story as proof. |
| :---: | :--- | :--- |
| $\mathbf{F}$ | FACTS | Know a ny? Borrow from Section A ? Invent! |
| $\mathbf{O}$ | OPINION | Strong words "It is outrageous..." |
| $\mathbf{R}$ | RHETORICAL  QUESTIONS | Express powerfully - not too many - remember the  question mark. |
| $\mathbf{E}$ |   EXPERTS | Give examples as support. Invent an expert and  quote eg Professor a ane Momis of Oxford University  says, "It.. |
| $\mathbf{S}$ | STA "ISTICS | Invent! Eg "In a rec ent survey conducted by York  University, $73 \%$..." |
| $\mathbf{T}$ | TRIPLES | Lists of three -ma ybe with alliteration?  Eg "It is c ruel, callous and criminal to..." |

Proofread
Check spelling, full stops, other punctuation, paragraphs, vocabulary and a nything else before it costs you marks.
